

CHAUFFEUR RAN MAN DOWN, FLED; POLICE ON TRAIL

Have Number of Auto
Which Fractured Man's Skull and Kept On.

Timothy Norton's vigorous constitution may pull him through the ordeal of recovering from a fractured skull received late last night when an automobile ran him down in East Twenty-third street. He is resting comfortably in Bellevue Hospital today, the surgeons having operated to save his life. They now believe he will get well. The police are making a vigorous hunt for the chauffeur who ran down Norton. The latter is fifty years of age, and lives at No. 242 East Twenty-third street.

The automobile was rushing at a high speed along Twenty-third street, apparently to catch a late ferryboat to Williamsburg. Norton could not move quickly enough when the auto bore down on him at the First Avenue crossing. He was hurled into a snow bank, where he lay unconscious. Police Officer Gallagher, of the East Twenty-second Street Station, observed the accident, and when the chauffeur fled from the scene of his recklessness Gallagher gave chase. He ran at top speed, but a boat caught up to him in the ferry slip when the auto arrived, and when Gallagher rushed up, the boat with the chauffeur was drawing out of the slip. Gallagher believes he caught sight of the number of the automobile and an effort will be made to apprehend the chauffeur.

STABBED MEN WON'T TELL ON ASSAILANTS.

Police Say Italians Who Were Cut
About Head Will Get Even—
Without Aid of Law.

Two men, bleeding from several knife wounds, were halted by Patrolman Diamond at Second Avenue, near One Hundred and Tenth street, today. They described themselves as Bartolo Sincato and Antonio Yoneno, living at No. 224 East One Hundred and Ninth street. They stubbornly refused to tell how the cuts were received. Dr. Schiff, of the Harlem Hospital, found that the men had been stabbed in the head and back, the cuts being superficial. The men were removed to Harlem Hospital. It was learned by the police that they had been engaged in a fight with other Italians in a First Avenue cafe in the heart of the Italian colony.

The sentence of the men is accepted by the police as indicating that they propose to "settle accounts" with their assailants at the proper time.
